SCOUT WAR FEAR

As Result of the Coming Moroccan Conference.

PREPARATION IN GERMANY THOUGH WARLIKE.

Is Not Intended as a Bluff, but to Be Ready for Any Eventuality.

GERMANY'S WHITE BOOK IS READY FOR USE.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—Although they admit that the situation bristles with serious possibilities, the most intelligent of German observers scout the idea that there is any likelihood of war with France as a result of the forthcoming Moroccan conference. This is believed to be the opinion of the imperial government also. Germany's military preparations, which have always been in a highly developed state, will be made even more complete as the Algeiras meeting approaches, but your correspondent is informed that such preparations will be only for the sake of unexpected eventualities and not at all for purposes of bluffing.

War Undesirable.
One thing that makes immediate war undesirable for Germany is the fact that the rifles of the kaiser's entire army are undergoing repair incident to the introduction of the new high velocity cartridge. Neither these changes nor the changes in the artillery equipment are complete. While these matters are of high importance, at the same time Germans consider that the leadership of their armies is so superior to that of France as to offset any inferiorities of armament.

The German white book, which will be submitted to the Reichstag next week is not likely to be of a sensational nature, although it will strike vigorously at certain sins of omission in Premier Rouvier's recent yellow book. There is no possibility whatever that France will force the conference to adopt its scheme of exclusive French police rights in Morocco, because all decisions of the conference will have to be unanimous.

"With Honor."
Germany remains determined to emerge from the conference "with honor," but it is likely to do so not by threats of invasion but by formulating its demands in such shape that France will find it possible to accede to them. The war ardor of many Germans has cooled. Critics continue to charge that Lieut.-Gen. Count von Moltke, who was recently appointed chief of staff by the kaiser, is utterly incapable of filling that highly responsible post.

VERY STRONG LEGAL BATTLE EXPECTED.

Trial of Alleged Grafter at Philadelphia—Prominent Witnesses.

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—The second week of the trial of John W. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau, on charges of forgery and falsifying records, is expected to develop a still stronger legal battle than was waged during the presentation of the prosecutions.

Among the witnesses for the defense will be some of the foremost engineers of the country. Among them will be former United States Attorney-General Judson Harmon of Cincinnati. Secretary of War Taft is also expected to appear for Mr. Hill.

THE "LID" WAS OFF AT LEXINGTON SUNDAY.

Saloons and Gambling Houses Open as Usual Under Eyes of Police.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 8.—The Sunday closing of saloons, which was so marked at many points yesterday, did not effect Lexington. The saloons and gambling houses were open as usual. The games that draw people from many surrounding towns were operated until after midnight Sunday night, apparently under the protection of the police, who eat and drink in them without paying.

HICKMAN PEOPLE WRD.

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 8.—The Hon. Luby Hargrove and Miss Margaret Johnson, of Cayce, were married at the Methodist church.

D. W. S. Amberg, of this city, was married to Miss E. M. Riley, in Philadelphia.

The democratic executive committee of Alabama meets today in Montgomery to fix a time for the primary to name a state ticket.

STATE SOLONS

WILL GET DOWN TO WORK MORE EARNESTLY TODAY.

First Ballot Will Be Taken for U. S. Senator—Committees Named Yesterday.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 4.—Both Lieut. Gov. Thorne and Speaker Lawrence appear to have shown excellent judgment in the selection of their committees announced today, and, as a rule, men have been given the chief places who are well equipped to handle the matters entrusted to their care. In the House Speaker Lawrence, who is the chairman of the committee on rules, has chosen W. J. Gooch is also chairman of the committee of revenue and taxation, which this year will be one of the most important committees, as it will consider the new bill prepared by the committee from the senate appointed to draw up such a measure.

R. W. Miller, who was defeated for the speakership, and who is one of the brightest lawyers in the House, is chairman of the code of practice committee, while M. H. McLean, of Covington, is chairman of the committee on municipalities, a position which the Kenton people have coveted for a number of terms. W. W. Smith, of Louisville, the Republican member, is also on this committee.

On the judiciary committee R. C. Simmons, of Covington, is chairman. Mr. Simmons is one of the best lawyers in the House.

The very important house committee on immigration and labor is headed by L. P. Head, of McCracken county.

In the senate J. Wheeler Campbell heads the committee on trusts and investment committees.

ELECTION ADDRESS OF NEW PREMIER.

Wholly Devoted to Severe Indictment of Record of Late Government.

London, Jan. 8.—The election address of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the premier, is wholly devoted to a severe indictment of the late government's record and its policy on protection and to referring to the electors and to his public declaration on assuming office for an exposition of his government's intended policy.

The premier declares that the last decade represents a well-nigh unbroken expanse of mismanagement and legislation conducted for the benefit of privileged classes, of wars and adventures abroad, hastily embarked upon and recklessly pursued, and that the legacy the Unionists bequeathed to their successors is in the main a legacy of embarrassment, an accumulation of public mischief and confusion absolutely appalling in its extent and ramifications.

He declines to regard Mr. Balfour's tenets as having more than a nominal place in the estimation of the majority of the Unionists, whose fiscal reform policy, he holds, is fraught with incalculable mischief to the nation and the empire. He characterizes protection as immoral and oppressive, based, as he says it must be, on the exploitation of the community in the interest of favored trades and financial groups, and declares the policy of his government will be to hold fast to the time-honored principles of liberalism, peace, economy, self-government and civil and religious liberty and to pursue a substantial continuity of the foreign policy without departing from the friendly and unprovocative methods adhered to by previous Liberal administrations.

FIRST STEAMER TO MAMMOTH CAVE.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 8.—The steamer Chapone left Bowling Green at 7 o'clock this morning and will go through to Mammoth Cave. The completion of the government lock on upper Green river enabled her to reach the cave. This is the first time a passenger steamer has gone through to Mammoth Cave.

The sale of Sunday-laid hen eggs, begun last October by the Women's Foreign Missionary society of Bethel church, in Mercer county, has reached such proportions as to permit the sending of four missionaries to the Japanese field.

Taking no stock in the story that Frank Ball, the Bell county outlaw, is to voluntarily surrender, the Civic Union of Middleboro has increased its reward for his arrest and conviction, from $200 to $800.

AGAIN SUSPENDED

SCARCITY OF BRICK CHECKS JEFFERSON STREET WORK.

School Board Tonight Decides How Much Money Is Wanted This Year—Public Matters.

Work of laying brick on Jefferson Street near Fifth has again stopped on account of the supply of material giving out. There is only a space of about seventy-five feet yet to be paved, and just as soon as the balance of the brick get here this will be done and the reconstruction work stopped altogether for the winter months.

School Money.

This evening the school board will hold its special session in their chamber at the Washington building on West Broadway, for the purpose of deciding how much they wanted from the municipal legislative boards to run the schools during 1906. They will ask for the limit, the law entitling them to 35 cents tax on every $100 worth of assessable property in the city.

Converted Into Hose Wagon.

The members of the Tenth and Elizabeth street fire department have dismantled the old No. 4 hook and ladder wagon and converted the apparatus into a good hose wagon that will be pressed into service whenever necessary. It was intended to send the old outfit to the scrap pile, but the firemen saved it and made a first-class affair out of it.

Conflicting Reports.

It seems that conflicting telegraphic reports were sent out of Louisville Saturday regarding the decision of Judge Walter Evans of the United States court in the litigation where the East Tennessee Telephone company here seeks an injunction restraining the city of Paducah from compelling the private corporation to buy a municipal franchise and also abide by the city laws here. One telegraphic dispatch said that the judge granted the order, while another said he did not. The lawyers have returned and they say the judge did not issue the order, but held things in abeyance until a future date and advised that the differences be settled out of court. This is a victory for the municipality, as it virtually means the judge refused the order at this time.

PAL GONE NOW

WOOD JONES ALSO TOOK LEG-BAIL AT MEMPHIS, TENN.

Followed His Partner, Who Escaped Only Few Days Before From Bluff City Officers.

Detectives Baker and Moore have received word from the chief of police at Memphis, Tenn., that Wood Jones has now escaped from jail there, and skipped "by the light of the moon." This shows that Jones followed close behind his partner Ernest Ozmont, who escaped a week before.

Both were arrested on the charge of attempting to hold up the clerk of the Windsor hotel late one night, two weeks ago. They got fines that meant about thirty days in jail. Ozmont was made a trusty around the jail and soon escaped. Now Jones has also skipped, and probabilities are he was made a trusty to, with intention of letting him get away so as to rid the town of him a bad character. The detectives last heard of Jones in the neighborhood of Jackson, Tenn., several days ago.

Indictments are pending against them in the circuit court here, and the detectives intended bringing them back from the Bluff City to stand trial of the local charges, but they have now gotten away. The local bills accuse them of obtaining money by false pretenses by stealing groceries from Grocer Wilkins and selling them to another party by claiming the goods belonged to them.

"The boys are hard characters and have been arrested numerous times by the police department here and at other points.

NEW I. C. DEPOT

OFFICIALS PREPARING TO ERRECT ONE AT PRINCETON.

Mr. John Trantham Is Expected Back Tomorrow or Next Day—Tom Glenn Promoted.

The Illinois Central railroad is preparing to erect a big depot at the city of Princeton, forty-seven miles above this city upon the Louisville division. The plans and specifications for same have already been drawn and are now being gone over by the authorities who expect to start work upon the structure just as soon as favorable building weather opens up in the spring.

It is their intention to make the depot a combined one for both passenger and freight service, and it will be a credit to the city and road both, costing many thousands of dollars. Since the I. C. took over the Tennessee Central and created the Nashville division, which ends at Princeton, things have been pretty lively from a railroad standpoint, the business about doubling and additional facilities are needed to handle the service. There are about twenty engines there at all hours and the road authorities are considering establishing a big roundhouse there for the moguls.

Returns Shortly.

Mr. John Trantham will return tomorrow or next day from Chicago, where he is attending a general meeting of the protective board representatives for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of the I. C.

Promoted to Dispatcher.

Mr. Thomas Glenn, the telegraph operator who went from here to Memphis, and operated a key in the dispatcher's office there, has been promoted to dispatcher for the road at Durant, Miss.

Continues to Improve.

Mr. Pat Atkinson, the I. C. agent at Barlow, Ballard county, continues to improve from his attack of pneumonia in his room at the New Richmond hotel. He will shortly be able to leave his bed, unless a relapse occurs.

NEW VEIN OF ZINC FOUND.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 8.—A new vein of zinc has been found in Crittenden county, Ky., that is three feet thick and 60 per cent. pure.

THE MARKETERS

GIVEN UNTIL TOMORROW TO SAY WHAT THEY WANT TO DO.

If They Don't Desire Their Benches and Stalls for This Year Others Will Be Given Them.

The butchers and vegetable dealers doing business upon the public market on Second street have been given until tomorrow by the board of public works to signify their intention of desiring possession this year of the stalls they have been occupying during the past twelve months. The licenses for the marketers expired the first of this month and the present occupants were instructed to notify by tomorrow the board of works whether or not they cared to have their benches and stalls during 1906. There are many new butchers and marketers who want to lease stalls, but the old ones are given precedence, and then if any of the latter do not want to continue occupying their places the benches will be given to the new ones applying. Thus far about all the old ones have applied for renewals, entitling them to retain possession and prospects are that there will not be many changes, especially as regards the butchers within the enclosed portion of the building.

It is said that the butchers are preparing to organize for their mutual protection, and that a meeting was held Sunday at one of the slaughter houses, this to be followed with another next Sabbath, but they do not give out anything definite regarding their movement. It is claimed, however, that they protest against hucksters and others peddling meat and disposing of it at the market, and they will urge some prohibitive municipal legislation along this line.

According to a recent report from Tokio, there are 1,786 wholesale and 235,414 retail tobacco dealers in Japan.

PASSED AWAY

MR. WILLIAM SHOUSE EXPIRED OF SOROSIS OF LIVER.

Mrs. Mary Curd Expired of Second Paralytic Stroke—Burns Felled Fatal for Child.

Last evening at 6 o'clock there died at Riverside hospital, on Fourth and Clay streets, Mr. William H. Shouse, the well known steamboat engineer who had been confined there this last time several weeks.

The deceased was afflicted with sorosis of the liver and once before was confined in that institution for a number of weeks, being discharged a month or two ago. It seems, however, that he was never fully regained of his health, as a recurrent attack appeared about one month since and he went back to the hospital, where he gradually grew worse until claimed by death.

Mr. Shouse was fifty years of age and reared in Evansville, where his wife now resides. He came to this city about five years ago and had since been making it his home. He was a very good marine engineer and had been in charge of harbor boats most of the time he was here, being on the tug Archibald, the towboat I. N. Hook, and many others.

He was a very congenial and well liked man, who stood high in the profession, and will be greatly missed by everybody.

The deceased was a member of the Marine Engineers Benevolent association that took charge of the body on dissolution. They have wired his family to know what disposition they want made of the body, and probabilities are it will be shipped back to Evansville for interment.

Expired of Burns.

About Christmas time Zeima, the two-year-old child of Mr. Ira Mitchell, got its night gown ignited from the open grate fire while standing in front thereof at the family home, in the Maxon Mill section of the county. The child's back was badly burned, and it had lingered until Sunday morning, when the little one expired. The remains were buried yesterday afternoon at Oak Grove cemetery. Mr. Mitchell is the well known farmer of that vicinity.

Body Shipped.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock there was taken to Mayfield the remains of the late Mrs. Mary E. Curd, who died in this city Sunday afternoon at the home of her son, Postman Jesse G. Curd, of 321 South Seventh street. This morning at the Mayfield church the funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Roger Clark, with interment following at the cemetery there. She expired of paralysis.

Three months ago Mrs. Curd came home from Mayfield to make her home with the son, who is a well known mail carrier. Eight weeks ago she sustained a paralytic stroke that left her in a serious condition for a while, but she appeared to be improving until Sunday afternoon when a second stroke benumbed her entire body. Dr. Reddick was summoned from his home next door, but the lady died in a few minutes.

Sixty-four years ago the deceased was born in Wadesboro, Ky., but for many years had been a resident of Mayfield and other points. She was a noble woman, deeply religious, a consistent Christian, and one whose reward will be a just one. Mr. Curd here is her only son but two stepchildren are Messrs. Add and Edward Curd, of Mayfield. There she also has four brothers, John, Napoleon, Rufe and Fayette Gardner.

Body Buried at La Gore.

Sunday morning Mrs. Ida Sanders died at the family home, 909 Ohio street, after a lingering illness.

The deceased was thirty years of age and the wife of Mr. John Sanders. Beside her husband she is survived by three children, her mother, five brothers and seven sisters.

She was a most estimable and noble Christian lady of many friends, and her dissolution is the cause of deep grief by many.

The remains were taken to the La Gore cemetery and buried yesterday.

NOVEL ADDRESS.

London, Jan. 8.—Sir Charles Dilke has just read a novel address to his constituents of the Forest of Dean Division of Gloucestershire, which he has represented in the house of commons as an advanced radical since July, 1892. It consists of a single sentence, as follows:

"I solicit a renewal of your trust."

HIS CHRISTMAS

With Four Wars on Hand It Was Sad Day for Czar.

REVOLUTION GENERALLY ADDED TO GLOOM.

Grand Duke Alexander Wants a Chance, Claiming That Witte Has Failed.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS ARE NOT DISMAYED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 8.—Advises from Tsarskoe-Selo are to the effect that the Czar spent the saddest Christmas of his life yesterday. Instead of gifts he had four wars on his hands—in Poland, the Baltic Provinces, Siberia and the Caucasus—and a revolution throughout the whole of the empire instead of the customary congratulations.

Messages announced that troops were destroying property on the farms in the Baltic region and burning factories, while the revolutionists were destroying the railroads and other property.

Not Pacified.

Pacification of the country is not yet in sight. All parties seem to be against the government. Court intrigues have been renewed. Grand Duke Alexander wants a change of the cabinet, urging that the mission of the present cabinet, to please foreign capitalists and satisfy the revolutionists at home, has not been successful and that therefore a ministry either frankly constitutional or frankly autocratic should be appointed. He asserts the men now in power are mistrusted by all and that the securities of the government have again slumped because the recent rise was not due, as claimed by Count Witte, to confidence inspired by the budget, wherein the income was problematical and the expenditure underestimated.

Election a Farce.

Revolutionists and Zemoists have decided to register, but unfortunately there are only four days of four hours each left and only one booth per 1,000 voters in a thousand-mile district. The inexperience of clerks examining the bulky certificates required and the interference of the police make the registration of citizens almost impossible except as regards state officials and pensioners. With such a large vote unregistered the outcome of the elections will be safe for the government.

But the revolutionists are not dismayed. Your correspondent was present yesterday at a meeting of their leaders on a farm near St. Petersburg. Encouraging reports from the provinces were read showing that despite heavy losses the numbers of the revolutionists are increasing.

Revelation of Feeling.

The excesses of the government have produced a revelation of feeling in favor of its opponents. In Poland, Lithuania, the Baltic regions and the Caucasus the revolutionists claim to be in absolute control. The same state of affairs, they assert, prevails in the manufacturing and mining districts. Strikes have been abandoned, but it has been decided to continue sporadic armed uprisings, though avoiding pitched battles like those in Moscow.

THE CUBAN TREATY WITH ENGLAND.

Opposed by Present Government, But Will Be Revived.

London, Jan. 8.—The cable report that the Anglo-Cuban treaty is killed has aroused much interest here. The Cuban consul-general, interviewed on the subject, said:

"The treaty will be allowed to drop. The present Cuban government is undoubtedly opposed to it owing to a fear that it would create unpleasantness with the United States, but when the next government comes into power in May there is every chance that the treaty with England will be ratified."

The other powers are watching the negotiations with no little anxiety, especially Spain, and in the event of a successful issue of the Anglo-Cuban treaty, several powers will endeavor to secure similar advantages.

Korea has a population of about 6,000,000. Seoul, the capital, has 22,000 and is constantly increasing. Already 30,000 Japanese live in the kingdom. No less than $8,000,000 has been spent on railways. The foreign trade was worth $26,016,387 last year.

RELEASED

JUDGMENT ENTERED FOR CERTIFICATION TO STATE AUDITOR.

Many Needed Improvements Being Made in His Office by County Clerk Hiram Smedley.

Last year John H. McGuire and the Illinois Central railroad were erroneously assessed for some property. They were afterwards released, but there was nothing to show for it on the books of the county court, so yesterday judgment to that effect was entered up, and this will now be certified to the state auditor so he will know that state taxes should not be expected from this assessment.

Saloon License.

The state saloon license of Hays & Co., was transferred to H. H. Evans, the latter having bought the place at 1136 Trimble street.

Licensed to Marry.

The clerk yesterday issued a marriage license to Cleveland Carey, aged 19, and Ruby Everett, aged 17, of this city. The young man had the written consent for his license, while Mr. T. Spann qualified as guardian for the young lady, and then gave his permission. The pair were then united by Judge Lightfoot in his office at the county courthouse.

Property Sold.

Property near Sixth and Boyd streets has been sold to Hill and Karnes by J. Andy Bauer, for $3,000, and the deed was filed for record yesterday with the county clerk.

J. F. Bichon transferred to Gertrude E. Bichon, for $1,000, land lying out in the county.

Deputy County Clerk.

M. M. Carnal was appointed by Clerk Smedley as one of his deputies for down in the county.

Office Improvements.

Clerk Smedley yesterday had the old railing taken out of his office and is preparing to change things around, make more improvements and put the quarters in excellent shape. The iron door to be put in from vault leading into county courtroom has arrived and yesterday Contractor Chas. Smedley started putting it in. He will finish the job today. It is put in the northeast end of the vault, closest the county jail.

NORFLEET'S CASE

CONTINUED OVER UNTIL TOMORROW IN THE POLICE COURT.

Breach of Ordinance Charge Against Contractor George Katterjohn Was Dismissed.

In the police court yesterday morning Judge Sanders continued over until tomorrow the charge of forgery against J. T. Norfleet, who is accused of signing Jennie Cowser's name to a check and getting Grocer Frank Rodius, of Fifth and Jackson streets, to cash same.

There was left open until today the malicious shooting charge against Nannie Caldwell, colored, who shot her husband while pointing a revolver at him at their next door neighbor's house, on North Ninth street. Both claim it was an accident.

There was postponed until tomorrow Prentice Campbell's case, charging him with cutting Charles Baker during a fight they had in Rowland town last summer.

The breach of ordinance charge against George Katterjohn was dismissed. He was accused of blocking Fifth street with an accumulation of brick and other building material, out in front of the Elks' new building.

F. Gent was arraigned on a breach of ordinance charge and the matter was left open. He is the owner of the houseboat in the river at the foot of Clay street, where they take and skin carcasses of dead animals and convert the remains into grease and soap. The stench arising is something awful.

John Kelly and Tom Ross were each fined $1 and costs for being drunk.

There was put off until tomorrow the two warrants against Robert one charging him with forgery and the other with a breach of ordinance.

HADLEY CONFIDENT

SATISFIED HE WILL OUST THE OIL TRUST FROM MISSOURI.

Is More Than Pleased With Progress of His Inquiry at New York.

New York, Jan. 8.—The Missouri inquiry into the methods of the Standard Oil company and the stock ownership of the numerous concerns in which it is interested was continued this morning before Special Commissioner Sanborn.

H. H. Rogers will be heard from further, although it is hardly probable that he will not resume the stand until several other witnesses have testified.

Mr. Hadley, about whom the interest of the inquiry centers, was besieged in his rooms at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday. A small army of newspaper men and photographers camped on his trail, and there were many callers who had read of the manner in which he is conducting his investigation who desired to congratulate him.

"I am more than satisfied with the progress which I am making," he said, "and am confident that I will achieve the end I am seeking—the ousting of the oil trust from the limits of our state."

"After the Supreme court has ruled upon the questions brought before it upon certification of the special commissioner witnesses will have two courses open to them when instructed to answer. They may either lay themselves liable to contempt proceedings or may seek refuge by the personal privilege route, admitting that to answer would render them liable to criminal prosecution, to a forfeiture of a penalty."

"The right of corporations to avail themselves of this privilege has never been passed upon by the courts. Personally, I am convinced that they cannot claim the exemption which may be exercised by individuals in this regard."

"In any event, the same purposes would be served, so far as the interests of Missouri are concerned, should the witnesses refuse to answer on the ground that by so doing they might incriminate themselves," as would be served by the admission of the truth of our allegations."

Lawyer Hagerman, who is leading the forces of Standard Oil attorneys, said most emphatically that Standard Oil witnesses would seek no advantage from the provisions of the law in the matter of personal privilege.

"If the Supreme court rules that a question must be answered," he declared, "the answer will be forthcoming. It is absurd to think of a man of the type of Mr. Rogers refusing to answer a question on the ground that it might tend to subject him to criminal prosecution."

KITTY LEAGUE

EDDIE POWERS GOES FOR A TOUR OF ILLINOIS CITIES.

President Brown Will Have the Next Gathering of Officials at St. Louis January 21st.

Sunday at the meeting of the baseball officers for the K. I. T. league, at Cairo, Mr. Eddie Powers, formerly manager of the Egyptian city team, and also umpire of the league, was selected to go to East St. Louis, Jacksonville and Danville, Ill., and see about arousing interest sufficient in those towns for teams to be organized and they become a part of the Kitty league.

Cairo, Paducah and Vincennes were represented at Sunday's gathering, and $150 was made up to send Mr. Powers off, who yesterday started on his tour and will spend several days in each place, where it is not believed he will encounter any trouble in getting the cities into the organization, as the enthusiasts are anxious to come in. If successful in his mission the league this year will be composed of Paducah, Cairo, Vincennes, Jacksonville, Danville and East St. Louis. This drops Hopkinsville, Henderson and Princeton, Ind., those towns not proving very good and profitable ones for the sport.

The next meeting will be one week from next Sunday at the Jefferson hotel in St. Louis, at which time Mr. Powers will make a report of what progress he has had. President Chas.

KELLOUGH CLEAR

IN CITY YESTERDAY AND SAID HE WAS ACQUITTED ON TRIAL.

L. S. Byers, of Seelyville, Ind., Went to Vincennes Looking For Boy—Police Business.

Dick Kellough returned here yesterday from Mayfield, where he was acquitted of the charge of embezzling $323 from his partner, J. W. Pee. Kellough was arrested here last Friday and taken back to Mayfield for an examining trial and came clear of the charge. He was accused by his partner of drawing the latter's money from the bank without Pee's knowledge.

Gone to Vincennes.

Mr. L. S. Byers, of Seelyville, Ind., yesterday left for Vincennes, Ind., after coming here in search of his boy, who has been missing the past year or so. He thought the lad was here upon a flimsyboat, but it proved not to be him. Yesterday Detective Moore and Baker went out beyond Olivet Baptist church, on the Cairo road, having received word that a camp of Gypsies was out there with a number of children. The sleuths found the camp had gone on, but none of the little ones in the tribe were as young as the missing Byers boy, whom the father thinks was stolen by some horse traders.

Breach of Peace.

Charles Jones, white, was arrested yesterday by Officers Johnson and Hession upon the charge of a breach of the peace.

Robbery Charged.

George Wood, colored, yesterday had Jack McCarthy alias John Tucker, white, arrested on the charge of robbery. Wood claims he met the white man on the tanyard fill in Mechanicsburg, that McCarthy asked him for a drink and he gave it to him. McCarthy then asked if he had any money, and Wood said he pulled out half a dollar, which the other took away from him.

Could Not Locate Him.

Officer Aaron Hurley returned Sunday from Fulton, but did not succeed in locating there Bernard Schulke, who is wanted here on the charge of passing several forged checks. Mail came from Fulton to Schulke's wife, and the officer believing him down there went to see but could not locate his man.

GUNBOAT PADUCAH

PICTURE OF IT RECEIVED FROM WASHINGTON YESTERDAY.

Likeness Is Being Framed to Be Hung Upon the Walls of Carnegie Library.

Mayor Yeiser yesterday morning received from Washington, D. C., a picture, about two feet square, of the United States gunboat Paducah, which is named after this city. The reproduction shows a most excellent little boat of which this entire municipality is very proud, and the mayor is having the picture framed to be hung upon the walls of Carnegie library, at Ninth and Broadway, where everybody can get a glance of same. Along with the picture the mayor received the following letter:

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5, 1906. Sir: The bureau has been informed by Lieut. Com. A. G. Winterhalter, U. S. N., commanding officer of the U. S. S. Paducah, that a photograph of the vessel was desired by the authorities of Paducah, Kentucky. The bureau accordingly takes pleasure in forwarding you, by express, a photograph of the vessel as she appeared while passing through "Hell Gate," New York, which it is hoped will reach you in good order and prove satisfactory for the purpose desired.

Very respectfully,
W. L. COBBES,
Chief Constructor, U. S. N.,
Chief of Bureau.

Brown has called this St. Louis gathering and will be there to preside. The ball men of the other cities all want him re-elected president, but he yesterday said he would decline the honor, as it took too much of his time from his private business.

LYNN'S TRIAL

COMES UP WEEK AFTER NEXT AT KANSAS CITY MO.

Does Not Think He Will Have Any Trouble in Clearing Himself of the Charge.

Week after next sometime there comes up at Kansas City, Mo., the case charging young Thomas Lynn, of this city, with murdering Bert Amoss, on the race tracks of that city. The father of the lad, Mr. Enoch Lynn, will go out in plenty of time to attend the trial and take along with him some of the lawyers of this city.

It will be remembered that several months ago Thomas Lynn got into a quarrel with Amoss, who was his best friend at the tracks, where they were employed as jockeys. During the heat of the argument Lynn picked up a stick of wood and delivered the other a severe blow over the head, with result that Amoss died in a few hours.

The coroner's jury held Lynn over to the grand jury, but he is now out on bond, and awaiting his trial that will come up sometime week after next.

Lynn and Amoss slept together, and were bosom companions before there arose the trouble which resulted so seriously.

After being released the accused resumed his position upon the race tracks there and writes that he has no doubt but what he will be cleared of the charge overhanging him. He is a very popular little fellow, who has resided here all of his life and took to the turf business several years ago. He is one of the jockeys for a leading Western race horse man who is standing close to him in his trouble and has employed the finest attorneys of Kansas City to represent him at the trial.

ACTION OF BOSWELL VS. CITIZEN'S BANK NOW ON TRIAL.

Administrator Excepts to Claim Against the Herbert A. Rose Estate—Jury Empaneled.

Yesterday morning Judge Reed empaneled the juries at the circuit court but was still so weak that he was unable to hold court, therefore went home to bed, while Lawyer Thomas Crice was selected as special judge and is now on the bench for the case that was taken up, it being that of C. W. Boswell, of Mayfield, against the Citizen's Savings bank.

Boswell lost some money speculating in the Glibert & Arenz commission house and suing them got judgment for several thousand dollars. He attached money he claims was theirs in the Citizens Savings bank. He claimed the commission people kept the money in a name other than that shown in his attachment papers. The bank reported back at the time that it had no money there to the credit of the people named in the attachment, but Boswell now sues the financial institution on the ground that money was held there for them, but under another name.

The plaintiff executed bond for probable costs of the suit of Baker, Vawter & Co., against Oscar L. Gregory & Co. It is for money plaintiff claims defendant owes them for goods furnished defendants vinegar works.

The plaintiff filed exceptions to certain claims against the estate of the late Herbert A. Rose, in the suit of Felix G. Rudolph, administrator of Rose against Ione T. Rose. The litigation is for friendly settlement of Rose's estate.

The court ordered that there be resold some property at Seventh and Trimble streets in the suit of Chas. E. Jennings, administrator of Thos. T. Robison, against the Globe Bank and Trust company. This is a friendly suit for settlement of the Robison estate, and this property in question was once sold by the master commissioner, Cecil Reed, but the purchaser did not execute a sale bond for same.

The jurors empaneled yesterday are as follows: L. Reber, W. M. Clyne, William Hoffman, W. J. Cunningham, W. P. Davidson, Lee Walters, A. J. Earles, James P. Holt, Saunders Brooks, Lucian B. Durrett, G. E. Rouse, John Choice, W. H. Voor, Frank Kirchhoff, Jr., A. C. Royster, L. Y. Coleman, J. P. Childress, W. J. Englert, W. M. Mitchell, L. G. Sears, W. E. Downing, Louis P. Dilk, M. N. Gammon and G. W. Houser.

Good Attractions Booked.

Manager Thomas Roberts, of the Kentucky theatre, has booked some excellent attractions for his playhouse and will soon close contracts for several more. The plays just booked are:

Richard Carle, in "The Mayor of Tokio," March 19th.

Charles B. Hanford, in "Ingomar," April 16th.

Eva Tanguay, in "The Sambo Girl," March 14th.

"The Maid and the Mummy," Feb. 12th.

"The Girl From Mars," some time in February.

"The Wizard of Oz," Feb. 16th.

Richard Carle was here in "The Tenderfoot" last year, and Eva Tanguay was also here in "The Sambo Girl" last season. "The Wizard of Oz" was here two years ago, and Chas. Hanford, the same season, in "The Taming of the Shrew."

From Obscurity to Popularity and Fame.

The rise of Olga, the Countess von Hatzfeldt, in the theatrical profession, and her success during the last road. This gave her a start and she quickly showed to what metal she was made. A season or two in vaudeville and a course of study in the conservatories of the old world gave her much experience and line of work, she was eminently successful. From that time on she has been a star in the profession and her services have been sought by every theatrical manager in New York City.

In "The Little Duchess," in which the Countess plays the title role she has part for which she is splendidly fitted. Her singing and dancing and her cleverness in stage work have made of her a decided favorite. The Countess is surrounded by a company of unusual merit and the members of the cast are especially fitted for the parts they assume. The chorus is large and one of the beauty kind, and was especially chosen because of its ability to sing and dance.

The Countess and her company will be at the Kentucky Wednesday, in matinee and at night. Every lover of light opera should see her and "The Little Duchess" as a whole. It is doubtful if there will ever be equally as attractive musical comedy in the house again this season.

four years in musical comedy, is a chapter in theatrical life only found in the wonder book. It is not so very long ago that the Countess, who comes from the aristocracy of Germany, and through whose veins courses the bluest of blue blood, found herself in New York in actual want. She was then but a child and her mother who was an actress being unable to work because of illness and because it was impossible to secure an engagement in her particular line, Olga, who had shown an aptitude for the stage, determined to go out on her own hook and with the aid of a friend secured a place in a minor company to play a child's part on the role of Flora Cameron in "The Clansman," which will be seen at The Kentucky on Friday night. As young as she now is she has been on the stage for seven years, during which time she has played child's parts with many prominent stars. In her new role in "The Clansman" she has several scenes where she has the centre of the stage, and in which she has shown talents that indicate a brilliant future for her when she gets to be a real grown-up actress. She is the idol of the company and receives almost as much attention from her fellow players as if she were a really-truly star.

INTRUSION BY WIRE.

PREVENTED BY HAVING SECRET TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

Private and Business 'Phones That Are Not Listed—Efforts Made by Outsiders to Discover Them.

"Yes, they call me Sapphira," cheerfully admitted the operator of the telephone switchboard in a large business house, reports the New York Sun. "It's because I'm such an accomplished liar, you know."

"But, then, that is one of the things I'm paid for: so it really isn't my fault and I don't let it worry me. Perhaps the most frequent lie I have to tell is when I am asked about a dozen times a day if the president has a private telephone call—one not in the regular telephone directory, you know."

"Of course he has, he'd be in the insane asylum if he hadn't; but he doesn't want everybody to know it. The telephone was getting such a nuisance to business men that a lot of them have had to do this."

"Now, when a man's private telephone rings he knows it really is a personal call, as only a few people have his number. It is a direct call from 'Central' and does not come over the regular office switchboard at all."

"Every operator of a private switchboard, and of course, every 'central,' is charged with keeping these private telephone numbers strictly confidential. People try lots of different ways to worm this information out of us, but they don't succeed."

"It saves my time wonderfully—this having a private call," said a lawyer. "I really think this plan saved me from a nervous breakdown last year."

"My private secretary has charge of the telephone supposed by the uninitiated to be the only one by which I can be reached personally. Nine times out of ten the questions can be settled without referring to me. Occasionally, of course, I have to speak to the person myself."

"But there was a time a few years ago when I could not dictate so much as a note to my stenographer without being interrupted half a dozen times. That exasperating little ting-a-ling has been the death knell to many a finely phrased letter. As for important documents, when dictating anything that required serious thought I was obliged to have an entirely separate room where I was as absolutely 'out' as though in my home uptown."

"While, of course, I did not pretend to speak to every person who called for me on the telephone, still I was called very often. It is very different now. Only a dozen or so persons know my private call, and sometimes my telephone does not ring more than once or twice a day."

"The telephone is a mighty good servant, but with one's name in the public telephone directory it soon becomes a hard master."

"Yes, our house number is private," said a woman who has many social duties, "and we guard it as we do the family jewels. Only our own direct circle of friends are able to reach us by telephone."

"As some one said to me the other day, quite the height of modern intimacy is reached in the interchange of private telephone numbers. And it is true."

"You would be surprised to know the lengths some people would go to discover the number of a private wire. Why, would you believe it, our stable is often called up, and whoever happens to answer is asked for our house number. Yes, our telephone is now just what it originally was and just what it should be—a convenience and not a nuisance."

Maiden Names in Other Lands.

When a woman is married in this country her maiden name is seldom mentioned. Many people to whom she is very well known have never heard it. In France, on the contrary, there are constant reminders of the earlier dignity. In Belgium marriage does not extinguish it, for many married women often combine the old name with the new. Moreover, they put the maiden name last, thus giving it the greater distinction. We can illustrate this by supposing the custom to prevail in this country. If that case Miss Brown when she married Mr. Robinson would have her visiting cards printed: "Mrs. Robinson-Brown." This double barreled arrangement does not give the Belgian wife a better social status than the English wife's, but it is very soothing to feminine pride.—London Chronicle.

Wisdom of the Chinese.

The verbal wisdom of the Chinese has become proverbial, and appropriately enough, it shows itself prominently in their proverbs. Many of these have already been translated into English, but here are a few more, from a collection by Herr Bruno Naxarra, published in Heidelberg, which may be welcome: "It is better not to be than not to be anything." "Repentance is the dawn of virtue." "Even the highest tower stands on the ground." "Man thinks he knows everything, but woman knows better." "Even the mandarin of the first class has poor relations." "The carver of idols never worships idols; he knows so well what they are made of." "A day of grief is longer than a year of joy." And so on.—T. P.'s Weekly.

The Rowed, She Stared.

The boat drifted on the clear lake. The man and the maid were silent and a little sad. "Dear," he said, "will you float with me always—down the stream of life?"

"The same as now?" she whispered.

"The same as now," said he.

"I will, gladly!" cried the young girl.

He, you see, was rowing, doing all the hard work. She had the helm. She steered.—Minneapolis Journal.

FIRST WOMAN

REFEREE BAGBY SAYS ONLY ONE TO ASK DISCHARGE HERE.

Final Order in Estate of William Ellington—Last Distribution in Nimmo Case.

Referee Bagby, of the bankrupt court, yesterday said that he had just had before him the first woman to apply for a discharge in bankruptcy in his district which includes all of West Kentucky. The woman is Mrs. Eva Washburn, of Ballard county. Her husband and she moved to Arkansas several years ago and he embarked in the mill business, with her as a partner. His place burned, he died and this left his wife in a bad financial condition. She returned and filed her petition in bankruptcy several weeks ago. Yesterday was the day for the first meeting of the creditors to put in their claims, but as none appeared to file bills against her and there are no assets, it is needless to select a trustee, who is needed only when some assets exist. There being nothing to administer on the creditors did not go to the trouble of filing their claims, therefore the referee will recommend to Judge Walter Evans, at Louisville, that Mrs. Washburn be granted her final discharge.

MEDICAL MEN

PROTESTS AGAINST LICENSE BEING RAISED AS TO THEM.

Article in Scientific American by Lew Palmer Regarding Yellow Fever Mosquito.

Tomorrow evening the McCracken County Medical society holds its meeting at the office of Dr. B. B. Griffith, in the Trueheart building on Broadway between Fifth and Sixth streets. One of the doctors yesterday said that at the meeting would be brought up the question of the municipal legislative boards several nights ago adopting an ordinance wherein there was raised from $10 to $15 per annum the licenses charged doctors and dentists to do business in this town. This physician in question said that it was unreasonable to increase the licenses of the professional men when their business is compared with others of a much larger and more lucrative scale, who do not pay as much license as heretofore. The doctors may take some step to get the legislative authorities to knock off the increase and permit the license to stand as it has been heretofore, $10 per year.

Scientific American.

In the last issue of the Scientific American, which reached this city several days ago, there is noticed an ably written article upon yellow fever, the infected mosquito and pertinent points from Mr. Lew Palmer, of this city. Mr. Palmer takes the stand that the stegomyia or infected mosquito is not the sole cause of the spread of the disease, his basis for belief being that something had to infect this special mosquito who could not infect himself. Mr. Palmer takes the ground that filth and unsanitary conditions infect the mosquito, and that if the New Orleans people had not laid such stress upon the stegomyia and kept things in a clean sanitary state the disease would not spread like it did.

The conditions in the Baltic country are officially declared in St. Petersburg as still very serious. The revolutionists continue to oppose and vex the soldiers most grievously. The disorder is great.

It will be easy enough for the council to lower the tax rate if the board of equalization raises the valuation on real estate within the business part of the city as it should be raised, hunt out the holders of valuable personal property as they should be hunted out, take the bank showings and assess the surplus money as it should be assessed, in fact, catch the tax dodgers and make them pay what they should pay towards the revenue of the city. It is alleged that though the banks show thousands of dollars of idle money that the assessor's book shows less surplus money given in for taxation than a single one of the well known moneyed men of the city really has; it is also said that while there are diamonds galore owned by the people of the city that the assessor's book will show that there are not enough diamonds within the city, liable for taxes, to fill the craw of a canary, while men with household property which must have cost them thousands are down on the assessor's book as owing less than enough of such effects to furnish an average one-story cottage. But this is not all. It is said that men who own a number of houses throughout the city have many houses which are not listed at all, one instance being given that the owner of fully one hundred houses has not over thirty of them down for taxation. The Register repeats, it will be easy enough for the council to lower the taxes if the board of equalization will only do its duty in standing the tax dodgers up and making them pay into the treasury of the city their proper proportion of the city's revenue. But these things may be left as before and the tax rate not decreased as a consequence.

A good bill before congress and one which should be promptly passed is the one to punish any one for giving away or selling any of the secrets or statistics of the departments. The introduction of this act was prompted by the recent sale or use of the cotton report of the government, the divulgence of which is one of the scandals of the present administration. Speaking of the introduction of this law and the necessity for its enactment the Nashville Banner says: "It is rather remarkable that no punishment is now provided by law for this character of offense. Of course it is a cause for dismissal when discovered by the head of the department, but no indictment can be found in the courts and the offender retires taking the price of his perfidy with him. The offense is in a measure a new one, because it is comparatively recent years that the government has begun to make crop reports on which the business world relies and concerning which advance information is valuable. This accounts, probably, for the fact that no penalty has been provided for the violation of such trusts. It is necessary, both to the public welfare and the integrity of the government, that these leaks be prevented, and the bill that seeks to place them in the category of criminal offenses is a good one, which should become a law."

There may be no yellow journals in Russia, but there are the quill drivers in that land competent to get one out on the briefest notice, judging from the class of news they send out. The press of this country, after being repeatedly gulled and padded with exaggerated and highly colored information sent from Russia the past several weeks, is just learning that only twenty-five percent of the false in toto. A sample of these color stories is the shrinkage of casualties in Moscow—a most gratifying and encouraging shrinkage. Several days ago the senders from Russia of reports of troubles in that place were both startling and blood-curdling in their statements as to the number of lives lost, placing the number as high as 25,000. Now, after some days more of fighting, we are told that while it is impossible to ascertain the total number "the final figures will closely approach 2,500." A shrinkage of nine-tenths in Moscow affords much relief. Now all can hopefully await final figures from the Baltic and Siberian provinces.

English politics and political ways are most peculiar in many instances. Though there is soon to be chosen a new parliament house of commons the body will be presided over by the speaker of the body which lately resigned. Could one imagine a condition existing in which the control of our house of representatives passed from one political party to the other and yet the speaker of the house be retained in office? That is what is to be done in the house of commons. No matter how large a majority the liberals may obtain as a result of the coming elections, they will not supersede J. W. Lowther as speaker. The unionists set the example by keeping Mr. Gully in office and the liberals will now repay this by retaining the present speaker. With us the speaker ship of the popular branch of the national legislature is a position second only in importance to that of the president. In the house of commons the speaker is merely a presiding officer, with nothing like the influence on legislation enjoyed by the head of the house of representatives at Washington.

Flammarion, the French astronomer, is telling credulous readers as much about Mars as an average man can tell another about the people of some distant section of his own country. These statements are interesting as a reading of good-for-nothing else, but there will be those who will accept their every word as the whole truth simply because they are of that class which believes everything they read in the newspapers. But Astronomer Flammarion stories about Mars won't hurt any one; they will cause only a one day's wonder and then something else will catch the credulous.

There is a paper in an Oklahoma town which advocate the teaching of grafting in schools. Its defense of the idea is that it wants the coming generation to be able to at once hold its own with the going generation. Though a jest the suggestion would seem to be timely.

LONG PROMOTED

FILLS VACANCY CREATED BY MR. GUS ROGERS' RESIGNATION.

Chief Collins Urges Eight More Men, But Question Is Yet to Be Passed On.

Last evening the police and fire commissioners held their regular monthly meeting at the city hall general assembly chamber. There was nothing before them except to elect the successor to Mr. Gus Rogers, who ten days ago resigned his position as a member of the police force to become deputy sheriff under Sheriff John W. Ogilvie.

The commissioners elected to fill the vacancy Mr. Courtney Long, who has been the extra man on the police force for some weeks. He saw service in the department about ten years ago and made a first-class officer, as attested by his good work.

F. M. Matlock, the former saloon-keeper, was elected first extra on the force, while the commissioners postponed until their next session the matter of selecting a second extra.

Chief James Collins, of the police force, continues to urge that he be allowed eight more men by the legislative boards that have the authority to say how many shall be maintained on the department. He says it takes that many at least to properly police the city which is growing faster every year, but the increases to the department do not keep pace with the commercial development, as they should. Every man now has to cover miles of territory and this is entirely too much for proper protection of the public.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH DID NOTHING TO THIS END.

Sunday morning the members of the First Christian church had intended taking up the question of calling a pastor to succeed Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, who resigned, but on account of many members not being there the matter was not discussed, and was postponed indefinitely.

Song Service.
On account of the church organist, Miss Adah Brazleton, cutting her hand and being unable to play, the song service intended Sunday night at the First Presbyterian church was postponed until the coming Sabbath evening.

"The Man From Vermont."
This evening at the Trimble street Methodist church Charles T. Taggart, "The Man From Vermont," appears with his impersonating entertainment. He is a celebrated character.

Many Admissions.
About 300 admissions have been made to the First Baptist church since the great revivals started there eight weeks ago.

Quarterly Conference.
This evening at the Broadway Methodist church the first quarterly conference of this year will be held by Presiding Elder J. H. Blackard.

Epworth League Meeting.
Thursday evening the Senior Epworth league of the Broadway Methodist church will hold a business meeting with Mr. and Mrs. John U. Robinson, of North Eighth street.

Minister Injured.
Rev. H. C. Roberts, of the Eureka Springs, Ark., Baptist church is suffering from two broken ribs and a fractured collarbone, as the result of being thrown down hard while trying to board a Frisco train. He is a cousin of Chief Deputy Wm. Kidd, of the circuit clerk's office here, and was to go in a few days to Biloxi, Miss., to take charge of the Baptist church there.

Another Report.
Frankfort, Jan. 8.—Today in the house Speaker Lawrence appointed his standing committee. Head of McCracken, was made chairman of immigration and labor and was placed on printing, municipalities appropriations and mines and mining.

Tomorrow is bill day and an avalanche of measures will be introduced. Among the important bills will be one to protect newspaper men in the state by providing that when a newspaper is sued for libel or erroneous publication the suit must be filed in the county in which the newspaper is published or in which the plaintiff resides. Also one providing that when the governor offers a reward for a criminal notice of some kind must be printed in the county paper of the county where the crime was committed.

A number of bills effecting Paducah will be introduced by Campbell in senate. Head's position on municipalities committee will give him an opportunity to assist their passage in the lower house.

The election of senator occurs by both houses tomorrow and again in a week.

Lieut. Gov. Thorne gave Blackburn men the best of the committees in the senate. The reverse is true in the House.

Jesse B. Cunningham, a nightwatchman, shot and fatally wounded Frank Henry, a highwayman, who had attempted to hold him up on Third avenue, in Louisville, Sunday morning. Henry had a confederate, who escaped. A revolver in the hands of one of the robbers, was placed in the face of Cunningham, and the failure of a shell to explode saved his life.

Whistler, the painter, was one day dining in the Cafe Neapolitan in Paris when some undesirable acquaintance accosted him. "Well, Mr. Whistler, and how are you getting on?" said he. "I'm not," said Whistler, finishing his absinthe and putting on his hat. "I'm getting off."

While Rear Admiral Evans' squadron was leaving New York harbor, proceeding to sea, the battleships Kentucky and Alabama collided and ran aground. The Kearsarge was able to put to sea, but the Kentucky was ordered back.

It is probable that all the Louisville contest cases before the legislature will be heard by the combined committees. Such a course, it is accepted, would save time for the attorneys and their clients.

While the new "reform" mayor of Evansville will insist on the closing of saloons every night at 11 o'clock, it is said he will not demand the closing of saloons and theaters on Sunday.

BASEMENT

CONTRACTOR LOCKWOOD'S MEN START TO WORK TOMORROW.

Boiler for Hospital Shipped From Kewanee, Ill., and Gets Here About Tomorrow.

Contractor William Lockwood yesterday stated that he would about tomorrow put to work his men who will fix up the basement at Riverside hospital, on Fourth and Clay streets, in such a manner that it can be used as ward for colored people. He was awarded the contract last week and has been waiting instructions to go ahead. These have now been given him by the directorate. It will take about two or three weeks to complete the work, which means that the basement will be put in as good condition as the wards upon the first and second floor.

The board of directors of the hospital expect to build in the spring a house out in the hospital yard, wherein will be confined cases of contagious diseases brought there for treatment, and which cases are too aggravated for the patients to be left in the wards with the other people. It will cost about $1,500 to properly fit up a separate building for this purpose, and provision to pay for it will be made in the apportionment ordinance that is to shortly be adopted, designating how much money each department will get this year.

The boiler for the hospital was shipped yesterday morning from Kewanee, Ill., and will arrive here tonight or tomorrow, when it will immediately be installed and there abandoned the city's street roller, which was Saturday pressed into service when the old boiler gave down. The roller is heating the institution well and fills the purpose finely.

DESIGNATE SUMS

MAYOR YEISER WILL HAVE FINANCE COMMITTEE TO MEET.

An Official Declares It Impossible to Make Tax Rate $1.55 and Uphold Recommendation.

Mayor Yeiser yesterday stated that he would call the joint finance committee of the aldermanic and councilmanic bodies together some evening this week for the especial purpose of designating what sums of money shall be allowed to liquidate the expenses of every municipal department for this year. The finance committee looks into the recommended needs of every branch of the municipal government and then frames up an ordinance, which it brings in to the full boards, recommending that there be allotted to each department just what ever they think necessary. When this bill is brought before the full boards the balance of the members make whatever changes they deem necessary. The ordinance is then passed, and when the board of city supervisors finish deciding what figure each piece of property will have to be valued at for tax purposes this year, the authorities then compute the total amount of money needed into the total assessed valuation of property, and this will show what rate of taxation has to be had.

One city official yesterday said that Mayor Yeiser in his annual message recommended that about one billion dollars' worth of improvements be made, and then in the next clause that the tax rate be made $1.55. This official said he did not exactly see where the mayor stood, as the latter knew positively that his recommendations could not be concurred in at that reduced rate of taxation.

The mayor yesterday said he had not yet fully decided what might be done, but he would have the finance committee to meet and get outlined the sums to be allowed each city department for this twelve months.

HINTS FOR HOSTESS

WAYS OF ENTERTAINING ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS.

An Up-to-Date Book Party—Inscriptions for the Home—The Dutch Supper—A Left-Handed Party—Girl's Birthday Party.

(Copyright, 1905.)

An Up-to-Date Book Party.

The hostess informed us that she had spent weeks in preparing for this entertainment, and we believed her when we gazed upon the 32 objects, each bearing the name of an author. The title of the book represented was to be guessed and written on the card opposite the number the object bore. For instance, "The Eternal City," by Hall Gaine, was represented by a map of Rome; "The Virginian," by a picture of George Washington, with Owen Wister written on one corner; "The Speckled Bird," by Augusta Evans Wilson, by a white bird covered with specks; "Black Rock," was a black stone on the table, with Connor on it. A spray of blue flowers recalled that Van Dyke had written "The Little Blue Flower." The three Musketeers was represented by three toy soldiers. Kipling's "Seven Seas" was recognized by seven C's written on white paper and pinned on the wall. "The Octopus," by William Norris, was a large picture of that fish. Other books represented were: "A Paste Board Crown," by Clara Morris; "Boy," Corelli; "We Two," Edna Lyall; "The Duet," Kipling; "The Gentleman from Indiana," Booth Tarkington, and "Three Men in a Boat," by Jerome.

First, second and consolation prizes were given, consisting of books. This was an afternoon affair for ladies, but it would be quite suitable for a club or church society entertainment.

Quotations Appropriate for the New Home.

In the old-time manor house it was the fashion to inscribe a motto over the fireplace, especially in the great dining-room and library. The inscription was usually in Latin, the language of the scholar. This custom now being revived, and there is a room in which a sentimentally expressed would not be an addition, and which would attract the attention of a guest something unique. Here are a few good sentiments; the lettering may be done in script or Old English:

For the hall:

"East or west, home is best."

"A man's home is his castle."

"Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace."

"Our house is ever at your service."

Over the fireplace in Mark Twain's house in Connecticut is this beautiful inscription:

"The ornament of a house is the guests who frequent it."

The three following inscriptions are especially appropriate for the family living-room:

"Oh, ye fire and heat, bless ye the Lord."

"God has given us this ease," or "Seek thine own ease."

"No place is more delightful than one's own fireside."

For the library:

"Old wood to burn."

"Old friends to trust."

"Old authors to read."

"There is an art of reading."

"The monuments of vanished minds."

"Infinite riches in a little room."

For the nursery:

"God rest ye, little children."

"A child in the house is a well-spring of pleasure."

For the music room:

"The hidden soul of harmony."

"Music, the speech of the angels."

A very popular form of entertainment is the Dutch supper. If it is possible, do not use a table cloth, but have dollies or orange crepe paper, that is the Dutch color. Use all the delft china that is procurable; and imitation ware is very effective and very cheap. Tulips are the Dutch flower, and tulip shaped bon-bon boxes and candle shades may be made from orange tissue paper. Little wooden shoes may be purchased and used to hold the salted nuts. Serve the following menu, which is written in Dutch, much to the mystification of the guests. (The translation is given for the benefit of the hostess):

For a left-handed party, write the invitations with the left hand, and ask each guest to practice using the left hand, for very few are clever enough to be ambidextrous. When the guests arrive the left hand must be used in greeting, also in serving and eating the refreshments. Have a type-written or a printed quotation which each one must copy, using only the left hand. Award prizes for the best and poorest copy.

COLORADO DEPUTY'S SHOT

Sheriff's Aid Who Could Do Wonderful Things With His Revolver.

While Deputy Sheriff William Ronaldson was in the once "bad" town of Coffeyville, Kan., he got some of the Dalton spirit in his veins, and listened to the stories of how fear of the Daltons met death at the hands of one man stationed in a hole and shooting through a knothole, relates the Denver Times. They told "Mr. Ronaldson stories of what crack shots the Daltons were and how they picked off every man that appeared on the streets with a gun.

When the Denver deputy was on the train some stranger entered into a conversation about what crack shooters there were in Kansas about the time the Daltons blew into Coffeyville and secured several thousand dollars from a bank.

Ronaldson said: "Yes, there were some good marksmen there, but it is easy to hit a man with a Winchester in Colorado we use a Colt almost exclusively. Of course, we have no crack marksmen, but I believe I might pick off a prairie dog there while the train is moving."

The stranger flashed a five-spot in Deputy Ronaldson's face, and it was covered. Ronaldson snapped out his 38-caliber Colt and without much deliberation, and while the train was in rapid motion, sent one Kansas prairie dog to the eternal sleep.

Deputy Sheriff William Ronaldson of Denver, was five dollars to the good and friends on the sheriff's force say they would take a hundred similar bets that Ronaldson could do the same nine times out of ten.

TALE OF A TAILLESS CAT.

Feline Had the Instinct of Cautel. Preservation Without the Appendage.

"It is well known that Manx cats have no tails," says a writer in the Scientific American, "only slight stumps, and that the offspring of such in other parts of the world, in the first generation at least, are in the same abnormal condition. While living in Scotland 30 years ago we had a Manx kitten given to us, which, although born there, was tailless. The door of our breakfast room was spring-shutting, like most of the screen doors in this country, but opening only toward the inside. Before the kitten was full-grown he had learned to let himself in by pushing from the outside, but never learned, although we often tried to teach him, to pull it open from the inside.

"It was not, however, the opening of the door from the outside to which I wish to call attention—any cat could have easily learned to do that; but the fact that invariably, after he had so pushed it and got his body partially in, he made a rapid turn or whirl to prevent the tail that was not there (but heredity impressed on him the fact that it ought to have been) from being caught between the closing door and its frame.

"This he did dozens of times every day so long as we had him, and was always willing to show off before our neighbors, as he never seemed to recognize the fact that he had not a tail like his neighbors."

CORAL-REEF FINANCE.

Term Applied to the Patient, Organic Growth of Rothschild's Fortune.

"In the first place," it should be remembered that the Rothschild fortune is not industrial," says Vance Thompson, who writes of "The Rothschilds of France," in Everybody's. "It has absorbed many industries and many railways—like the ligne du Nord—but always by political and financial coups. And it is the least frenzied of finance. By reason of its slow, cold, patient accumulation one might call it (since phrases are the mode) coral-reef finance, so solidly has it been built up in the dusk and silence of the underworld of politics.

"And the fortune of the French house to-day exceeds ten milliards. That means $2,000,000,000. Imagination boggles at so huge a sum—it seems merely an endless caravan of ciphers, this 10,000,000,000 of French money. They own or control all the precious metals, the prime materials, mines, credit, the Bank of France, all the means of transport, both railways and waterways—so far as the canal system goes—next to the city, which owns all public buildings; they are the greatest owners of lands and houses in Paris—round the Arc de Triomphe, the Champs-Elysees, the Bois de Boulogne, the Parc Monceau, and, notably, the Gare du Nord. Entire streets belong to the Rothschilds; their chateaux dot the provinces; in land alone they possess 400,000 acres."

Making India Paper.

The process by which India paper is made is a secret known to but three living persons. When one dies another is let into the mystery. In this way it has been preserved ever since it was invented by an officer in the English army. Other thin papers are made, but India paper is peculiar in that print on one side does not show through on the other.

Science to the Fore.

We find intellect working not so much in literature as in the domain of science, which has brought forth during the last few years many strange and wonderful discoveries. If we have not had the poems of a Keats or a Shalier, we have had wireless telegraph, radium X-rays and a number of kindred discoveries.—London Academy.

COMPLEXION AND TRAVEL.

How One's Beauty and Temper Can Be Maintained in Spite of the Dust and Dirt.

Even more important than a knowledge of how to appear well groomed when at home is the understanding of how to make the best of oneself when traveling. It is at such a time as this that even more care than usual is necessary, for what with dust and grime and perspiration the average woman soon loses all claims to beauty. Lack of proper sleep is also often added to the already long list of discomforts, and so, unless my lady is really very clever, she is apt to discover that she resembles nothing even approaching good looks when she alights from the train to greet her loving though critical friends.

Much of the mortification attendant upon such a condition could be avoided by the expenditure of just a little extra effort. For instance, a small case should be included in the list of necessities, and this should contain six or eight wide-mouthed bottles in which the creams, powder and lotions may be carried. If the journey is to be a long one, the lotions may be carried in a concentrated form and used by adding an extra amount of water on the train.

Of course it goes without saying that the wise woman of to-day is sufficiently informed to avoid the use of soap and water entirely for the purpose of cleaning her face at such times. True, grime and tiny bits of coal and cinders will fly about and imbed themselves in the skin in the most deliberate and tantalizing fashion, and naturally the first impulse of the afflicted one is to vanish in the direction of the lavatory for the purpose of removing these disfiguring additions. Unfortunately, however, the use of so much scrubbing and rubbing only serves to irritate the skin, makes the face tender and thus renders it impossible to keep the complexion in anything like a pleasing condition.

The use of the lettuce cream for cleansing has been so often described that it will not be necessary to repeat the description, but there are other methods with which the readers are not so familiar, and one of these is the use of pure almond meal mixed with a simple solution, the formula for which has often appeared before. This remedy is made by adding to six ounces of rose water the juice of one lemon, one dram of borax, and one-half dram of glycerin. A few drops of tincture of benzoin may also be added if desired.

It is employed by mixing it with the almond meal into a thin paste, and then spreading it carefully over the face and neck and allowing it to remain for a few moments. This can easily be arranged even when traveling by first of all cleansing the face with the lettuce cream and then applying the paste, and allowing it to remain while the greater part of the toilet is being completed. This paste may then be washed off carefully, a good powder dusted on, and the skin will look as refreshed and improved as though a good masseuse had been expending efforts upon it.

For those who have not the patience to experiment with the paste and who persist in frequent ablutions, the almond meal itself, sprinkled in the water, will be found to be excellent in place of soap.

BAMBOO FERN STAND.

It Is Easily Constructed and Makes an Attractive Rustic Ornament for the House.

This is an easily-constructed stand that costs but very little. It may be made either of bamboo or rustic branches. The bamboo can be bought at almost any oil and color dealer's, and at most furnishing warehouses. Three lengths of suitable height are required, and two circular pieces of wood. Holes must be burnt in the bamboo, then long brass screws are passed into the holes and screwed into the wood. The wood should be stained or painted, and the edge, if liked, may be finished with fancy gimp, fixed on by tacks.

CAN BE MADE AT HOME.

When Gentleman Precedes.

At the theater the gentleman precedes the lady and stands at the entrance to their seats to allow her to pass in first. The same at church. The gentleman takes the lead also in leaving. He will assist the lady in putting on her wraps before he puts on his own overcoat.

With Large Lips.

The woman with the large lips should have her long, coat almost straight under the arms, to flatten the effect.

CIRCULAR SHAWL CROCHET

Dainty Throw for the Shoulders—Doors Which Will Be Found Exceedingly Comfortable.

This shawl will be found exceedingly comfortable for indoor wear, as it does not "slip off" so easily as any usual shape. It may be worked in any fine wool, Ivorine, Shetland, Anadulian or two-ply vest wool. About three-fourths pound would be required and a thick bone hook. It should be worked quite loosely throughout.

The shawl is worn folded across the middle.

Work ten chain stitches and join in a ring.

First row—Three chain, one double crochet into the ring, just made, *, three chain, another double crochet in the ring, repeat from * until there are 16 loops.

Second row—Four chains from the middle of one loop to the next all round.

Third row—Five chains from loop to loop all round.

Fourth row—*, six chain back into fifth from hook (forming a small loop or picot), one chain into middle of nearest loop of previous row, repeat from * into each loop all round.

Fifth row—*, seven chain back into fifth from hook; two chain into middle of nearest picot in previous row, repeat from * into each of the other picots all round.

Sixth row—Seven chain from picot to picot all round.

Seventh row—A double crochet in every stitch all round. From this point the back thread only must be taken up.

WARM LITTLE WRAP.

Eighth row—Draw up a loop through each of the first three stitches, four loops on hook, wool over and draw all four at once, and make a chain stitch to hold them together, *, work up a loop under the chain just made, one through the back thread of the fourth loop of the previous group, and one under the back thread of the nearest double crochet, draw through all four at once, and secure with a chain stitch, repeat from * all round.

Ninth row—*, work up a loop under the last made chain, one under back thread of last loop and one under the nearest stitch but one of the previous row; complete the stitch as usual, and repeat from *.

Tenth to twelfth row—Like row nine.

Twentieth row—Like row eight.

The remainder of the shawl, with the exception of the border, is now worked like row nine, which should be repeated until the work is about a yard or more if a larger shawl be required, in diameter.

For the border:

First row—Two trebles in every other stitch.

Second row—*, five trebles in first, pass one, two trebles with one chain between in next, pass one, two trebles with one chain between in next, pass one, and repeat from * all round.

Third row—*, two trebles, with one chain between on each of the five trebles, one double crochet into the next chain, one chain, one double crochet in the next chain, repeat from * all round.

Fourth row—*, two trebles, with one chain between under each chain between the trebles round the scallop, pass the nearest double crochet, a double crochet in the next, pass the remaining double crochet and repeat from * all round.

Fifth row—*, five chain, back into the fifth from hook (picot), pass two stitches, a double crochet in the third, repeat from * all round, and join with a slip-stitch.

If the first row of the border be threaded with ribbon it will greatly improve the appearance of the shawl.

A Handsome Neck.

To make the neck smooth and round and pretty requires great perseverance. The neck must be massaged with cold cream, and it must be heated and massaged again. It must be continually treated and massaged again and again, or the lines will become fixtures.

For the Eyebrows.

Two and one-half ounces of cologne, one and one-half ounces of glycerin, two drams of fluid extract of jaborandi. Agitate the ingredients until thoroughly mixed, and apply to the eyebrows with a small brush.

Oh! Oil.

Olive oil is a good application to make tired eyebrows take new courage and fresh growth. It cannot be used on the eyelashes, because it will irritate the eyes, as will any oily application.

AS IT REALLY IS.

The tall, slim, cadaverous-looking man with the hectic flush and the slight cough, the long hair and the black, and somewhat seedy clothing, walked hesitatingly into the managing editor's sanctum.

The humorous sheets call it "sanctum," anyhow, and they ought to know. As a straight matter of fact, however, the managing editor's den is usually a room exposed to all the winds of heaven, so to speak, to which all hands, fore and aft, resort when they've no other place to go, and wherein they sit upon the edge of the managing editor's desk, when he's trying to arrange a make-up scheme, and breathe their hot breath upon his hair and tell him the troubled, vicissitudinous stories of their lives.

The managing editor looked up amiably at the apparition of the cadaverous-looking man. It is true that managing editors are invariably portrayed with heavy, scowls upon their countenances and with their hands reaching for vicious-looking paste pots and scissors and other throwable impedimenta. But it doesn't matter how they are invariably portrayed, so long as the facts are narrated.

The managing editor looked up with a courteous smile. The man with the hectic flush gave a slight cough. He did not bestow the cough upon anybody in particular, but he gave it.

Then he reached into the breast pocket of his seedy-looking coat and produced a roll of manuscript.

"I have here, Mr. Closeforms," he said, in a sepulchral tone, "a poem upon autumn which I beg leave to submit to your consideration."

The managing editor—

Now, just wait a minute.

If the writer of this absolutely veracious story were to yield to the temptation to depart from the facts, and to follow in the beaten path of the professional laugh-provokers, he would, in order to attempt to make a little hit for himself go on to narrate—

How the managing editor's face suddenly assumed an expression of the most appalling ferocity.

How, thrusting forth his foot, the managing editor stepped upon a spring which hurled the cadaverous-looking poet out of the door and down the elevator shaft, with much low-comedy breaking of glass and other "business" of that description.

Or he would exhibit the frenzied managing editor in the act of leaping over his desk and grabbing hold of the man with the sepulchral voice, pounding his unfortunate head against the wall with sufficient force to make large indentations therein, and finally hurling him to the floor and stamping upon him with hob-nailed brogans.

Or he would show the managing editor in the act of summoning four huge ex-movers of pianos, who would promptly proceed to cave in each and every side in the frame of the wretched victim of the poetic fever.

Or, finally, he would cause words of the most galling, shriveling sarcasm to issue from the curled lips of the managing editor asent all imbeciles of amateur poets, the effect of which would be to cause the cadaverous-looking verse-maker to make for the nearest stairway at a lope.

But the writer is not yielding to any temptations whatsoever. He is engaged in the prosaic work of setting down the facts of occurrences just as they come off in real, everyday life, and net as they occur in the pages of the screechingly funny sheets that are exuded from the color presses.

Therefore—

"Ah," observed the managing editor to the cadaverous-looking man, cordially motioning him to a seat. "That's good. We've been a little shy on seasonable verse lately, and I'm glad that you've got something for us."

The cadaverous-looking man, who happened to be not only a producer of fluent and elegant verse, but a well-known operator in real estate, and worth $478,000 at the very lowest estimate, and a man who stood extremely well with everybody connected with the newspaper, upstairs and down—the cadaverous-looking man sat down, coughed slightly in the bowl of his hat, and twiddled his thumbs in an easy sort of way. "Um," murmured the managing editor, as he ran over the manuscript of the poem on autumn, "some tender and touching sentiment in this, I perceive—mournful breeze
